

World Gastroenterology Organisation (WGO) Overview of Committees

PREAMBLE

Standing, ad-hoc committees are established according to the needs of WGO. This document outlines the composition of these groups and describes their scope of activities and areas of responsibility. Work is undertaken by these groups in service of WGO's vision, mission and objectives.

ABOUT THE WORLD GASTROENTEROLOGY ORGANISATION

Established in 1958, WGO is a federation of 119 gastroenterology and hepatology member societies and four regional associations (AMAGE, APAGE, OPGE and UEG) representing over 60,000 individual members worldwide. WGO focuses on improving education and training standards in gastroenterology, hepatology, endoscopy and other related disciplines globally.

WGO originated due to the initiative of Georges Brohée (1887-1957), a Belgian surgeon and radiologist who promoted modern gastroenterology, in particular, by founding the Belgian Society of Gastroenterology in 1928 and organizing the first International Congress of Gastroenterology in Brussels in 1935. His continuing efforts culminated in the constitution of the "Organisation Mondiale de Gastroentérologie" (OMGE) on 29 May 1958 in Washington, DC, where the first World Congress of Gastroenterology was held.

The first President was Dr. Henry L. Bockus whose vision was to enhance standards of education and training in gastroenterology.

The organization was officially renamed the World Gastroenterology Organisation (WGO) in May 2007.

WGO organizes a biennial World Congress of Gastroenterology (WCOG) in collaboration with member societies to:

- Disseminate and exchange clinical, practical and scientific knowledge and information
- Educate gastroenterologists, as well as physicians and other allied health professionals in related disciplines, worldwide
- Provide opportunities for networking among professionals for the exchange of experience and ideas
- Realize sufficient finances to support the vision, mission and objectives of WGO

ORGANIZATIONAL MISSION, VISION AND OBJECTIVES

MISSION OF WGO

To promote, to the general public and healthcare professional alike, an awareness of the worldwide prevalence and optimal care of gastrointestinal and liver disorders, and to improve care of these disorders, through the provision of high quality, accessible and independent education and training.

VISION: Global Guardian of Digestive Health. Serving the World.

Gastrointestinal and liver disorders are preeminent among healthcare issues globally, a significant burden to national healthcare budgets and the single greatest cause of cancer death. While an increasing awareness of causative factors, coupled with dramatic advances in diagnostic and therapeutic approaches have led to improvements in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of gastrointestinal and liver disorders, these benefits have not been transmitted equally across the world and, especially, to those in greatest need.

As the global representative for gastroenterology and hepatology, the role of WGO is to:

- Increase global public awareness of gastrointestinal and liver disorders
- Provide independent and high quality educational opportunities to medical and other healthcare professionals in gastrointestinal and liver disorders throughout the world, regardless of location
- Promote international collaboration in digestive health education, training and research
- Support healthcare professionals who care for those with gastrointestinal and liver disorders throughout the world

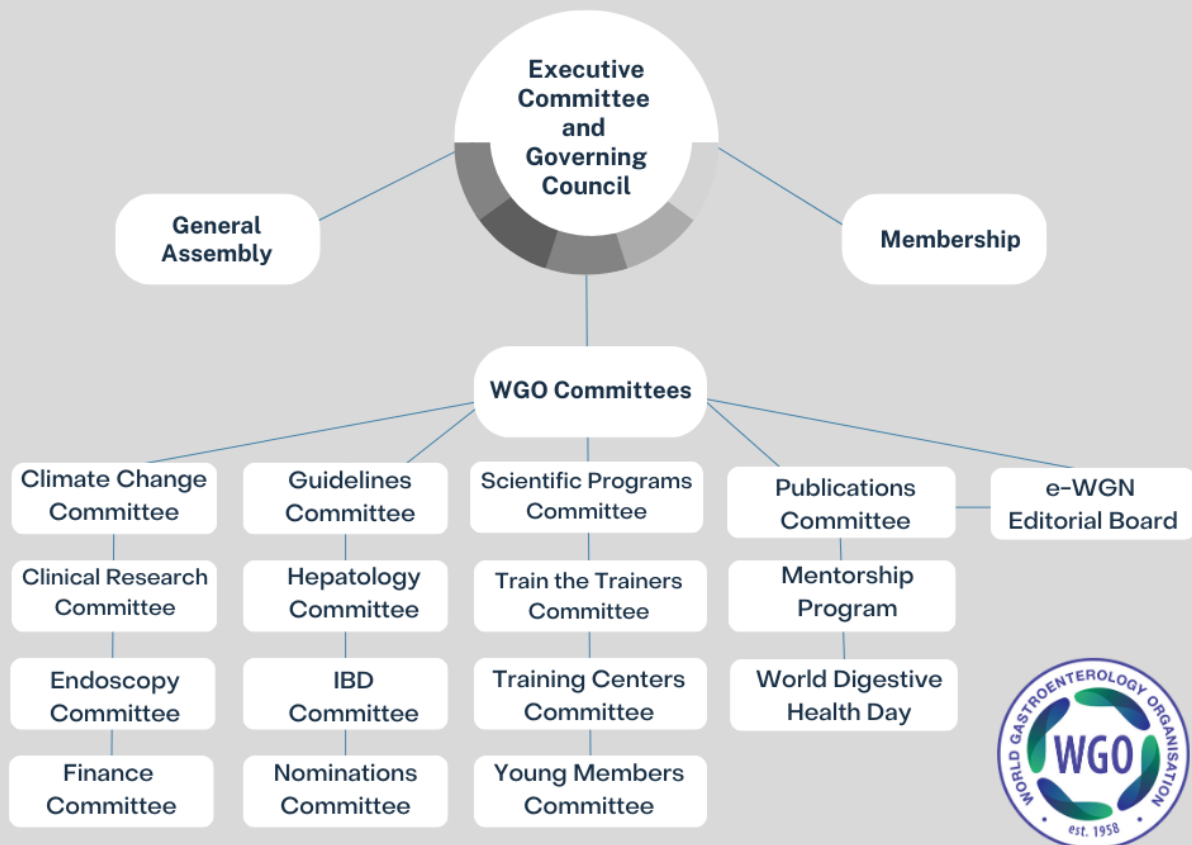

OBJECTIVES

- To promote public awareness of gastrointestinal and liver disorders worldwide
- To provide the highest standards in education and training in gastroenterology and hepatology throughout the world and objectively assess the outcomes thereof
- To create an educational network readily accessible and relevant to gastroenterologists and hepatologists in low and middle income settings to support their local professional development
- To stimulate international collaborations that foster improved digestive health education, research and training, especially in the developing world
- To promote multidisciplinary approaches to primary prevention, screening, early detection and optimal care of digestive cancers
- To develop and disseminate global guidelines on important global issues in the clinical practice of gastroenterology and hepatology
- To promote an ethical approach to all aspects of the practice of gastroenterology and hepatology
- To promote the formation of gastroenterology and hepatology organizations and encourage them to be members of WGO
- To support and collaborate closely with all organizations interested in gastrointestinal and liver disorders, including nursing, other healthcare workers and patient advocacy groups
- To solicit financial support for the purpose of undertaking WGO's global and emerging society programs and activities
- To regularly communicate WGO's strategic plan, activities and outcomes to its constituents

WGO ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

WGO ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

WGO EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, GOVERNING COUNCIL AND GENERAL ASSEMBLY

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Description:

Comprised of representatives of WGO's Member Societies and the Governing Council, the General Assembly reviews and approves the work of the Governing Council and attends to other business including final approval of the venue of the next World Congress of Gastroenterology. The General Assembly is held during each World Congress and at other times at the command of the President.

Function:

The General Assembly bears responsibility for the following activities:

- The Governing Council is authorized to seek and select a venue for the World Congress. The location for the World Congress is then submitted to the General Assembly for its approval.
- Adopts Bylaws which relate to the effective working of WGO. All changes to the Bylaws, including those changes or additions implemented under particular circumstances by the Governing Council, and to enhance the function of WGO, must be reported to and approved by the General Assembly.
- Approves amendments to the WGO Statutes and Bylaws. Amendments to the Statutes and Bylaws requires a simple majority of those Member Societies present and entitled to vote, taken by show of hands, at the General Assembly.
- Authorizes dissolution of the WGO should this ever be required and demands a simple majority vote of the General Assembly by secret ballot.
- Each eligible Member Society has one vote. In the event of a tied vote, the Chair of the Governing Council, that is, the WGO President, shall have the deciding vote.

Meetings of the General Assembly typically include the following items on the agenda: reports from each of the President, Secretary General, Treasurer, Committees, and Interest Groups; presentation and approval of nominations for membership to the Governing Council, Committees; and ratification of the venue for the next World Congress of Gastroenterology.

Composition:

The General Assembly is formed by:

- Delegates representing the Member Societies of WGO. Each Member Society may be represented by no more than two delegates and normally these should be the President and Secretary of the society. However, up to two suitable alternatives may be delegated by the president of the society; these names must be submitted in writing.
- Members of the Governing Council.
- Specialized sections and groups of gastroenterologists and Regional Associations may also be represented without voting power.

Term of Service: Term of service is dependent upon the statutes, bylaws and/or governance structures adopted by each individual member society.

YOUNG MEMBERS COMMITTEE

Description:

The primary aims of the WGO Young Members Committee is to bring together a committee of young Gastroenterologists, Hepatologists and Endoscopists from different fields of expertise, who will work together with WGO to identify and manage the key issues affecting the specialty. The focus of the committee will be on advancing international collaboration amongst young Gastroenterologists, Hepatologists and Endoscopists in education, research and training. The Young Members Committee will aim to regularly submit topics of interest for consideration to WGO for World Congresses and interim meetings.

The future of the specialty of Gastroenterology is a key point for WGO. We want to encourage and support the next generation of GI specialists in their professional careers and we look forward for those individuals, who have the passion and ability to contribute to the ongoing work of WGO, to become its future leaders. The Chair holds a seat on the WGO Governing Council.

Function:

The Young Members Committee has the following functions:

- Identify and develop projects aimed to produce outcomes relevant to the WGO mission while also offering young members the opportunity to do meaningful work for the organization. Participation in projects will allow individuals to gain insight into the needs of WGO while also providing a first step in leadership development and cultivation. All projects must demonstrate that they are fully funded to be considered followed by approval from the WGO Governing Council.
- Assist in fundraising for project-related initiatives and activities.
- Identify topics that may be incorporated in the Train the Trainers workshops, congresses and other programs and assist in their development.
- Provide expertise and advice on topics and activities.

- Submit an annual report of the committee's activities and plan for future action along with estimated budgetary requirements and provide this report each year to the WGO Governing Council for review. (Deadlines for reports and budget requests will be communicated to committees by the WGO Secretariat.)
- Meet in-person annually at WGO meetings. The committee shall also meet by teleconference quarterly.

Composition:

The committee consists of a Chair and additional members appointed in accordance with the process prescribed by the Nominations Committee.

Term of service: Term of service on WGO Committees is a maximum of a 2-year term unless otherwise prescribed by the WGO Statutes and Bylaws or organizational policies and procedures.

Staff Liaison: WGO Program Manager

ENDOSCOPY COMMITTEE

Description:

The Endoscopy Committee consists of individuals who have a special training and interest in endoscopy. The Chair holds a seat on the WGO Governing Council.

Function:

The Endoscopy Committee has been established to advise WGO on matters related to:

- Develop an endoscopy and related procedures program and presence within the existing structure and programs of WGO.
- Develop a strong presence at the WGO Training Centers and develop a regionally-relevant curriculum in endoscopy and related procedures.
- Assure Training Centers practice endoscopy and related procedures safely, particularly as reprocessing of endoscopes is concerned.
- Provide input in content for endoscopic and other related procedures educational efforts undertaken by WGO or in collaboration with other organizations.
- Liaise with WGO Training Centers to identify equipment and accessory needs.
- Identify other GI units which may need assistance in procuring equipment to provide clinical service, in each instance ensuring that appropriately trained medical and support staff are on hand to optimally use such equipment.

HEPATOLOGY COMMITTEE

Description

The Hepatology Committee consists of individuals who have a special training and interest in hepatology and related areas. The Chair holds a seat on the WGO Governing Council.

Function

The Hepatology Committee has been established to advise WGO on matters related to:

- Develop a hepatology program and presence within the existing structure and programs of WGO.
- Develop a strong presence at the WGO Training Centers and develop a regionally-relevant curriculum in hepatology.
- Develop ways to put the spotlight on liver diseases globally.
- Address the problems of education and training in the recognition and treatment of liver diseases on a worldwide basis.
- Provide input in content for hepatology-based educational efforts undertaken by WGO or in collaboration with other organizations.
- Contribute to the program of the World Congress of Gastroenterology.
- Submit an annual report of the committee's activities and plan for future action along with estimated budgetary requirements and provide this report each year to the WGO Governing Council for review. (Deadlines for reports and budget requests will be communicated to committees by the WGO Secretariat.)
- Meet in-person annually. The committee shall also meet by teleconference at least quarterly.
